Mr. Adam Lorimer spent Easter
with his sister in Fernie.

Mrs. Joe Braybier, of Hillcrest, spent Easter in Lethbridge.

Mr. Wilcox of Frank, has commenced work in Maple Leaf mine.
Misses Perry and Rogers spent Easter visiting at Granum and Calgary.

Miss Ella Emerson spent Easter with her uncle in Coleman. She passed through here on Tuesday
en route to Calgary.

Rev. Geo. Edwards, of Livingston, is in the camp writing exam-under the supervision of Mr. Irwin.

A party from Bellevue went up to the anniversary entertainment and supper at Coleman Presbyterian church on Monday night.

"Our baby cries for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. T. B.
Kendrick, Rasaca, Ga. "It is the best cough remedy on the market for coughs, colds and croup." For sale by all dealers.

Mr. C. A. Richardson, late of Frank, has opened a livery business here. He will have a bus meet all trains, which is a feature much appreciated by the Bellevue people.

At the service in the Methodist church last Sunday morning, the following were elected to represent the congregation at the board: Messrs. Joseph Atkinson, Herbert Noble, John Brooks and Watts Goodwin.

Mr. Irwin will preach in the church next Sunday evening at 7:30 upon the subject, "Our Images of the Christ." Every body will be made welcome. The subject will be thrown open for discussion after the close of the service.

An accident occurred in the mine last Thursday when an Italian workman was badly crushed between two cars. His condition was found to be not so serious as at first it appeared, and the able services of Dr. McKenzie soon brought him around.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from leaf sugar,
and the roots used in its preparation
give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has an superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

Miss Mushkat, the Socialist organizer, gave an interesting talk in the Socialist hall on Saturday night, in which she set forth plainly
the Socialist platform and exhibited a mastery of historical and scientific knowledge. A large and enthusiastic audience listened to the address.

The football enthusiasts had their first play-out on Saturday evening and showed great promise of being able to put a team in the field this year that will make all contending teams sit up and take notice. "It is safe to wager that Bellevue will keep the silverware
for another year."

Constipation brings many ailments
in its train and is the primary cause of much sickness. Keep bowels regular and healthy, and you will escape
many of the ailments to which women are subject. Chamberlain's is a very simple thing, but like many simple things it may lead to serious consequences. Nature often needs a little assistance and when Chamberlain's Tablets are given at the first indication, much distress and suffering may be avoided. Sold by all dealers.

C.N.R. to Erect Ten Story Offices in Toronto

Toronto, April 6.—The Canadian Northern railway will erect a ten story office building on the site of its present offices at the corner of Toronto and King streets and the construction will commence in a year.

Official confirmation from the C.N.
R. could not be obtained yesterday,
but the source of information is most reliable.

All the C.N.R. officials would say was that they were considering such a project. It was learned this week that plans have been drawn for such buildings.

have been seen in the vicinity of Burns and Lundbreck. For some time these animals have been frequently the prairie about about Bassano, the attraction said to be the feed afforded by this region.

A recent accident finding the baggage men in the local mine on Thursday last. The dispute arose over the action of the driver-hoos in discharging one of the men. The trouble was settled by the discharged man being reinstated at the prospect, and the men resumed work, having lost only one shift.

The band concert given by the local band on Sunday afternoon attracted a large crowd from the neighboring towns. The weather conditions were favorable and the concert was a pronounced success.
Bellevue can now boast of having the best brass band in "The Crow's Nest Pass, and much credit is due the leader Geo. Goodwin for its efficiency.

The following members of the

Friday. Messrs. Burnett, Roseley,

ray and Sergt. Dowers. The Bellevue team carried off the honors in both the 15 bird and 25 bird events with the following scores: 15 bird
ev. nt, Pincher Creek, 32; Bellevue,
53. 25 bird event, Pincher Creek, local traps is delayed owing to difficulty in procuring birds.

A sub-committee from the joint committee on co-operation of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches of Alberta, consisting of Revs. Shearer, Murray, Harrison and Irwin, met in the Methodist parsonage on Thursday evening last to arrange certain matters in this district. It was decided that the Presbyterian church should assume the responsibility for services at Lundbreck and that Hillcrest should become a Methodist point. Rev. W. T. Young of Frank, will open the Methodist cause at Hillcrest as soon as details are arranged.

"What Good Roads Means to Canada"

New Westminster, B.C., April—
Young people throughout Canada are taking a great deal of interest in the essay competition fostered by W. J. Kerr, president of the Canadian Allway Association, who has offered valuable gold silver and silver gilt medals for the best essay on "What Good Roads Mean to Canada."

Although public announcement of the fact was only made two weeks ago, the headquarters of the Canadian Allway Association already resembles the examination room of a college just before graduation.
Every day from three to twelve essays are received by the secretary, P. W. Lee, who has in hand the classification and preliminary judging of the essays submitted. The reading of the papers and the awarding of the prizes will be done by a competent committee selected because of long experience in newspaper and magazine work, and that the judgment of these men will give general satisfaction is not to be doubted.

Some of the papers received by the secretary bear the marks of careful and careful preparation. Others, of course, as can be expected, are written in a haphazard and careless manner and are not to be counted as serious competitors for the valuable prizes. All entrants, however, whose papers show evidence of study of the subject, will be presented with a souvenir silver pin.

Some of the competitors are only fourteen years of age and others are approaching the limit of eighteen years, but the majority are from sixteen to seventeen years of age.

Papers have been received from Harriston, Ontario; Kilmarnock, Ontario;
Glace Bay, N. S.; Redwood, Ont.;
St. Catharines, Ont.; Cornwall, Ont.;
Windsor, Ontario; Stratford,
Saskatoon, Dauphin, Vernon, Summer-
land, Okotoks, Nelson, New Westminster, Vancouver, Victoria; Nanaimo, Chilliwack, Creston, Capetown, and many other places.

Up to the present the essays submitted by the boys show more careful thought and deeper study than those submitted by the young ladies, but in the opinion of Mr. Kerr this will be left behind when the competition is decided. He believes that the girls are taking their time and going more deeply into a study of the economics of Good Roads and that during the two weeks preceding the close of the competition there will be a large number of carefully prepared papers received from the members of the gentler sex.

Secretary P. W. Lee has prepared a circular which he is sending to all children who require information
that will help them in the composition of their essays. This circular is compounded in a simple and while it is of considerable assistance to the children, it does not give those who receive it any unfair advantage over those who have already prepared their papers and forwarded them to him. He was induced to get up this little leaflet because so many children were writing to him for advice that he felt he could not afford the time to answer each letter individually.
Any prospective competitor can obtain one of these helps by sending a letter to the secretary at the headquarters of the association, Room 4, Cunningham Block, New Westminster.

Toronto Glee Club

On Friday night of this week the people of Blairmore will have the privilege of hearing a big musical attraction at popular prices without going to the large cities. The Toronto Glee Club headed by the famous basso-cantante will give one concert in Blairmore Opera House. The name of Ruthven MacDonald alone should be sufficient to pack the place to the doors.

The programme is a popular one arranged to suit all tastes, an abundant of good, wholesome humor being introduced to add variety.

Popular prices will prevail, no seat
being higher than 75 cents.

Happenings in and Around Frank

Charlie Clark put on a moving picture show at the miners' hall
Saturday night.

son's residence on Main Street,
and will move in there shortly.

moved to Hillcrest, where Mr. Simpson has secured a position as master mechanic.

The Presbyterians have given over the Hillcrest mission to the Methodists, and the work there is now in charge of Rev. W. T. Young.

Rev. G. H. Weyerley, of Lille, conducted the Easter service in the Catholic church on Sunday night, while the pastor, Rev. W. T. Young officiated at Lille.

Mr. McKay, principal of the Frank public school, left for Calgary Tuesday, where he will attend the annual convention of the Alberta Educational Association.

In cases of rheumatism relief from pain makes sleep and rest possible.
This may be obtained by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale
all dealers.

A slight fire in Bohemian town caused a little excitement on Tuesday morning. The fire had application of a shower from the house quickly quenched the flames
before much damage was done.

A delegation from Frank went to Edmonton on Wednesday to consult with the members of the parliament on the possibility of having a public school in the town.

It is hoped immediate steps will be taken.

Status of Fan-Tan

That fan-tan is not a gambling game nor is it unlawful, is the conclusion of Mr. W. C. Moreby, who is defending sixteen Chinese charged with being in a gaming house at 558 Figuard street, and Magistrate Jay has advised the case until ten o'clock morning to consult authorities in this regard. Mr. Moreby said his clients were club members not gamblers,
and they were enjoying themselves playing fan-tan in their rooms at the Empire club, a daily incorporated club, when the police broke in.

Detective Inspector Perdue said that, armed with a warrant, he and Detectives Murray and Carlow had gone to 558 Figuard street. The lookout on a platform at the head of the stairs had been unable to pull a rope and shut a door with a spring lock before Detective Carlow got by and wedged a sledge hammer between it and the jamb, preventing the beav-ily-barred inner door being closed.
He described the case about four tables, where a crowd played fan-tan, and the hurried flight which followed, telling how the trio of police had arrested the sixteen men in flight,
some on the fireescape, others hidden about the premises. A large amount paraphernalia tables, etc., broken up and removed from the place, were produced in court. The two other officers gave similar evidence.

One of the tables was set up in court and Yip Wing, interpreter, acted as banker and showed how the game was played. Mr. Moreby making various bets tending to show that there was no percentage in favor of the banker.

Mr. Moreby contended that the detectives had entered a club and had smashed things unnecessarily.
Inspector Perdue said he did not think the place looked anything like a club room; it was a gambling house.
Mr. Moreby held that decisions had been given in the Wilson case by a higher court that fan-tan was not a gambling game and the case was remanded until the authorities
could be consulted.—Victoria Colonist.

Happenings in and Around Blairmore

W. M. Wetmore and wife have moved to Kamloops, B. C.

Mr. Bigger, of Bow Island, spent Easter with friends in town.

Dr. Wright, dentist, of Pincher Creek, spent Saturday in town.

J. D. S. Barrett, of this journal, will arrive about Sunday from the coast.

R. B. Bartlett, of the Pioneer Furniture store, Macleod, spent Sunday in town.

Miss Edmondston, of Calgary, is spending Easter with her sister, Mrs. H. G. Bigelow.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson and Miss Gardner, of Macleod, spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Shera.

Rev. W. H. Irwin of Bellevue, will occupy the pulpit at the Central Baptist church next Sunday morning.

Special Easter services were held in the different churches here on Sunday last and were largely attended.

A. A. Sparks has secured license to carry on business in temporary quarters until the new hotel is completed.

Monday night's ball at the opera house was the most enjoyable and largely attended affair ever held in Blairmore.

Misses O'Brien and Darrah, of the teaching staff, spent Easter with friends in the northern part of the province.

Foundation work for the additions to the Rocky Mountain Cement Co.'s plant is progressing and a large number of men are employed.

Work of excavation for the new hotel which is to replace the Cosmopolitan is progressing well, a large number of men being employed.

Don't forget the Railway Telegraphers' Ball at the Blairmore opera house on Friday night of next week. This will be the finest event of the season.

F. W. Cardno, who had been employed as receiver for the Winnipeg Jobbers, Limited, here for some time past, has taken up similar duties at Bow Island.

A disturber of the Sunday peace was brought before Justice Pinkney on Monday morning, and fined $3 and costs, in all $8.50, covering means of conveyance to the "coop," etc.

J. M. Carter will conduct a mammoth auction sale of furniture, jewelry, etc., at the corner of State Street and Sixth Avenue, on Wednesday, April 17th. See his large bills.

Don't forget the big musical treat to be given in the opera house tomorrow (Friday) night, by the Toronto Glee Club. A large number of tickets have been sold and cents will be at a premium, so be on hand early.

Great interest is being manifested in the coming boxing contest between "Young" Morris and "Dick" Marshall, and as both the parties have been in good training and are in excellent trim, this bout will be interesting.

D. A. Kinross, who had been connected with P. Burns' headquarters here for some time, has been transferred to Cranbrook, and left for there on Friday. Before leaving, his compatriots of the Shamrock Club tendered him a "send-off."

Tomorrow night, Coleman Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd-fellows and Victoria Rebekah lodge will hold their anniversary ball in the opera house, Coleman. Arrangements were first made to give the ball at the Eagles' hall, but as an unusually large attendance is expected, the opera house was thought to be more suitable. A large number of members of the I.O.O.F. will attend from Blairmore.

A Socialist-Capitalist.

Great commiseration will be felt for Mr. J. H. Hawthorthwaite, ex-member for Nazim, on his descent to the ranks of capital. No man who has watched Mr. Hawthorthwaite's career and heard his impassioned declarations against the evils of possessing anything, will withhold sympathy from a man who has been so singularly unfortunate as to acquire $125,000 for a piece of land that he owned. And the disaster is all the greater when it is realized that a year ago Mr. Hawthorthwaite acquired for $60,000 the property of which he has now disposed in such profitable fashion. In other words, he has made in one year no less a sum than $65,000 in unearned increment. If he had had a Dukedom bestowed upon him his misfortune could not have been greater.

No specious plea that by thrift, hard work and exercising considerable ability he has been able to take advantage of the opportunities offered, will serve him. No declaration that when you live in Rome you must do as the Romans do, will excuse him. Property is the private ownership of the means of life. Mr. Hawthorthwaite has made the declaration from a hundred platforms within the province, and as such must be abolished.

There is only one excuse for Mr. Hawthorthwaite. He is an Irish man from Westmeath. Every body knows that the charming, delightful, ever courteous and light-hearted humor of an Irishman is ready to share everything with his friends and no doubt Mr. Hawthorthwaite will keep up the Irishman's reputation. At any rate his inimitable success will appeal to all who know him as a sure sign of his most excellent humor.

Bellevue Marksmen Defeat Pincher

Pincher Creek, Alta., Apr. 5.—Today (Good Friday) was kept in the usual holiday style, all business places, banks, schools, etc., closing up, while the pleasure seekers sought ozone in automobile, carriage or game. Some attended church service in the forenoon. The big feature of the afternoon was a fine contest at the trap-shooting grounds, the contesting teams being Bellevue and Pincher-Creek. The visitors came off victorious, winning by a total of twenty-three points, with two hundred and eighty birds a side. The following is the score each man shooting at 10 birds:

BELLEVUE
Murray	30
Burnett	29
Bower	20
Holmiltz	20
Lyons	14
Winston	14
Boseley	12

PINCHER CREEK

Finley	26

Vroom	16
Upton	15

The home team were handicapped by the absence of several of their best men. A crowd of spectators attended, though the cool weather prevented many being present. The new automatic tray was used, doing its work very satisfactorily. The club, which now numbers 42 members, will hold a tournament at an early date, probably in April.

Top of a Mountain Falling

The Chicago Ledger prints the following false statement from Frank, dated April 4th, 1912: "Huge rocks the other day rolled down the Turtle mountain, crashing through several cottages belonging to miners at the base of the mountains. No one was injured because the occupants, fearing disaster, had moved out the last few days. The fissures are widening and no one here doubts but that the top will come down soon. Nine years ago a similar slide occurred, when ninety-two people were buried under thirty-two feet of rock and mud."

Editorial Notes

The first edition of "The Coleman Bulletin" came out last week and is a fair looking sheet.

All sides of the town of Blairmore have their particular industries and resources, but the brewery can hold its own and beer up with any of 'em.

Bellevue is on the map, and it would not be a bad idea to watch her grow. There is room in Bellevue for thousands of people, and judging by the present growth of the town the time is not far distant when she will tip the scales with any of her neighboring towns.

Steps are being taken under the superintendency of Fire Chief Barrows to organize an efficient fire brigade in Blairmore, which will be capable of performing great work as soon as the fire hall and equipment are at their service. At the recent fire, Chief Barrows and his band of volunteers did excellent work which has called forth praise from every citizen of Blairmore.

Commission in Session

On Tuesday, April 9, the special commission appointed by the Sifton government for the purpose of drafting proposed amendments to the Coal Mine act of the province held its first meeting in Calgary and the commission will meet in session every alternate week throughout the summer and fall. John Sterling, provincial inspector of mines, has been appointed chairman. The operators will be represented by Walter F. McNeil, of Calgary, secretary of the Mine Operators' Association, while W. Baden-Dowell, of Coleman, president of the local Union Mine Workers of America, will bring to bear upon the problems of mining in Alberta an intimate knowledge of the miners' requirements.

Licenses are not Increasing

Edmonton, Alta., April 9.—At the annual meeting of the license commissioners to be held throughout the province during the month of May, 260 applications will be brought before the board, either for renewals or for new licenses. In spite of the vast increase in the population of Alberta during recent years, the number of licenses has remained almost stationary, the new licenses granted being practically offset by old licenses that have been cancelled or allowed to lapse. Last year 247 licenses were granted, and when this year's list has been considered it is possible that no increase will be shown. Among the 260 are a considerable number of applications for new licenses.

Methodist Vote Is

88 P.C. for Union

Toronto, April 8.—One hundred and twenty-four Methodist congregations have completed their vote and official count shows 21,114 for union, and 2,806 against. Thus 88 per cent. of the total vote is in favor of union. The vote received within the last day or two shows that many of the Methodist boards vote unanimously for union.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT IT?

That's what a customer asked me recently about a patent medicine I had sold for years, and I was forced to admit that in reality I knew nothing more than what appeared on the label, wrapper and advertising. Some of the claims made were so extravagant that of course I could not take them seriously, but concluded I had better find a line of medicine I knew something about.

Nyal's Family Remedies

Wireless Extending

Montreal March 30.—Mr. E. A. Reoch, Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, received information from England, to-day, which confirms the statement made some days ago in a cable dispatch to The Star that an Imperial string of wireless stations would be established throughout the Empire.

According to the information received by Mr. Reoch, the Postmaster General of Great Britain, acting on behalf of His Majesty's Government and the Governments of the Dominion and Colonies, has accepted the contract tendered by the Marconi people for the construction of all the wireless stations which will form the Imperial wireless scheme.

This scheme consists of the placing of wireless stations throughout the Empire in such a manner that immediate communication may be had with any of the Colonies.

The Postmaster's acceptance of the Marconi contracts will, therefore be the first step towards the establishment of wireless around the globe.

The practicability of this so called Imperial wireless scheme was acclaimed by the Colonial Premiers at the Imperial Conference of last June, immediately following this endorsement of the plan, experts were set at work making estimates as to the cost of the establishment of the six stations which will constitute the aerial links of connection which will serve to more closely unite the Empire.

According to the reports of these experts, the six stations will cost approximately, some four or five thousand pounds; and will be established at London, Egypt, Aden (Arabia) Pre-toris, (South Africa) Bangalore (India) and Singapore. These stations will be of immense power; and will easily radiate electrical waves for a distance of two and three thousand miles.

Although the officers of the Marconi Company refuse to detail all the conditions of the contract, it is known that the stations will be operated by the Marconi Wireless Company for the first six months following their establishment, and will then be completely taken over by the Government.

Another clause of the contract states that the Government will have the power to terminate the agreement at the expiration of eighteen years; but, by so doing, must forfeit the right to the use of any machine or instrument, the patent of which is held by the Marconi Company.

The value of a wireless chain to the Empire cannot be over estimated, for by this means the Home Government will not only secure cheaper and easier communication with the Colonies, but will be able to remain, continually in touch with its fleet, and will be entirely independent of the submarine cables.

Lake City

Is the name of the Western Terminal Point of the proposed Crow's Nest Pass Electric Railway and is already tapped by the Pass line of the C. P. R., while the G. N. R. has already approached to within a few score of miles and must eventually pass through this admirably located town.

Lake City

Is located by the shore of Crow's Nest Lake, only a few miles east of the provincial boundary between Alberta and British Columbia, and just north of the international line. In reality, it is at the top of Canada where the majestic Rockies tower in serene magnificence over great chasms and numerous fords, reflecting their presence on the waters of this beautiful lake. Here also are afforded the very best tasks for the daring mountain climber and for huntsman who desires to outlive the quiet ways of the Rocky Mountain goat, sheep, deer or elk, which are the monarchy thereon. In close proximity are numerous timber, mineral and fuel resources, development of which is now in its initial stages. These resources include gold quartz, coal, iron and pulp wood.

Crow's Nest Lake has long been looked upon with promise as an admirable location for health and tourist resorts, and but now this promise is being realized. Plans for hotels, etc. are being arranged, as well as boat houses, and the most modern pleasure yachts will soon glide over the surface of this beautiful lake.

A Chase

An American Abroad Is Recognized by a Lady He Does Not Know

By ERNEST G. BROWNE

Walking in the Rue Rivoli, in Paris, I passed two ladies; the one gray and wrinkled, the other in what I consider the prime of womanhood—both in fact, to say, she must have been about thirty. The moment the younger of the two caught sight of me her face lighted up, and she was about to bow to me when she saw that I did not recognize her. Then she looked away.

I was puzzled. My eyesight is fairly good, and I am not inclined to forget faces. I could not remember to have seen the lady before, but no one can be certain of anything in this world, and I might have seen her casually. But had our previous meeting been casual her face would not have lit up at the second meeting. Still, if the lady were American, the meeting with a fellow countryman in a foreign land might have been sufficiently pleasing to produce this result.

A few days later, having nothing better to do, I called on an open cab for a drive in the Bois de Boulogne. On the Champs Elysees, just before reaching the Arc de Triomphe, I met the two ladies again, riding. The moment the younger one caught sight of me I saw embarrassment on her face—indeed, a slight blush. This time I noticed the resemblance between the two that they must be mother and daughter.

Calling to my driver, I directed him to turn and follow the carriage that had just passed, keeping so far away that we would not appear to be shadowing it. He did so, and I saw it stop at a hotel in the Rue d'Alger near Rue St. Honore. I knew it for a family hotel frequented by English and Americans.

I now had not only the lady's address, but was privileged to take up my abode under the same roof with her. I went to her hotel, engaged a room and sent my baggage there. Then I went there myself.

The morning after my arrival, after breakfast, I lollered in the hallway, waiting for the lady to go out. I would have asked the landlady for her name, but I could not do so, for I had not seen her. About 10 o'clock she came out with the elderly lady. The look of surprise on my chambermaid's face reflected in mine, only very faintly, for the elderly lady was a friend—I had intended to seek an explanation, but was not encouraged to do so and let the opportunity go by. The ladies entered a carriage standing at the door and were driven away. I looked for it, but had no luck to point them out to him but he must needs be a friend of the office just where I wanted him.

Although I was watching, I saw no more of the lady for two days, when, bringing down on the ground floor occupied for office, hallway and reading room, I saw some trunks going out and a little later, looking out of a window, saw the two ladies get into a carriage. Somehow I associated the trunks and the ladies together and got it into my head that I was about to have a break in my romance. The ladies never appeared. I hurried out, followed the carriage on foot up the Rue St. Honore to the Place Vendôme, where I halted in an empty cab and giving the necessary instructions to the cabman, was driven after the ladies to a railway station. Alighting, I saw them enter and from a distance watched them get into a train.

This was more than I had bargained for. I must either take the same train or lose my romance. The road, I knew, ran eastward, and I was told that the train about to leave would go to Dijon, Lyons and thence to the heart of Switzerland. Since it was winter if my enthusiasm could be calmed it would have been chilled soon. But what will a man not do under certain circumstances?

I bought a ticket as far as Dijon and got aboard the train. But my ladies did not stop there. So I bought another to Neuchâtel, another to Bern and a final one to Thun. There, putting my head out of the window, I saw them leaving the station, a railway porter carrying their hand baggage. I, too, left the train and saw them getting into a carriage. I did not feel that it was necessary to follow them, for Thun is a small city, and the hotels for tourists are bunched together near the end of the lake.

We reached the town in the evening.

The next morning I went the round of the hotels. I cursed my luck in not having learned the ladies' names, for in that case I need only have examined the register to find them. As it was, I must keep moving here and there all the while, hoping to find them. About 11 o'clock they emerged from the principal hotel, and I was disappointed to see them get into a carriage, a porter putting their hand baggage with them. I followed them to the railway station and thence to Interlaken. There I took pains to shadow them to their hotel.

The distance from Thun to Interlaken being only a ride of half an hour or so, I surmised that they would stop for awhile at the latter place, for if they were going to Lucerne or some point to the south they would have been likely to go on for a day's journey. I bought a chance of time and made myself look as respectable as possible. Now that I had got into the heart of Switzerland and there was prospect of a rest it suddenly occurred to me that I had been following an ignis fatuus. And when I thought of contacting the lady I had shadowed the fact that I was dogging her being palpable my courage oozed out at the end of my fingers.

That afternoon I saw my chambermaid and her mother—for by this time I was sure the elderly lady was her mother—go into the kitchen, or casino, as one calls such places in America, mustered up courage and went in too. The buildings and grounds are quite extensive, but the only entertainment was the orchestra. I entered the concert room, and standing back, looked for the ladies. Seeing them sitting at a table, after pumping at my courage for nearly half an hour, I at last took a seat at a table near them, keeping my back toward them that I might after awhile turn and put on a look of surprise. After several attempts to face them I finally succeeded. Partly turning my chair and my head at the same time, I looked first in the direction of the ladies, then my gaze settled on the younger.

I had my surprise all ready to put on instantaneously, but I didn't use it. I shall never forget the expression on the lady's face. There was nothing dangerous in it—oh, no, quite the reverse. She was trying hard to repress a laugh. There was some blushing, but most of the expression was amusement. Did she know that I had been intentionally following her?

There was nothing to do but open the ball. Rising to my seat, but in hand, I advanced and said: "I am quite sure I have seen you ladies before, for my life told me we have met."

"We were in the same hotel in Paris a few days ago," said the younger lady, with a mischievous look in her eye.

"Our meeting dates back of that," I said, "I saw you one day on the street."

"Are you sure you have not seen me before? You are Americans, aren't you?"

"Yes, we are American. This is my mother, Mr.—"

I didn't propose to give her the advantage of knowing my name, so I bowed to the ladies and continued to supply the deficiency. Indeed, I was not sure that the daughter did not know my name.

"How strange!" she remarked, "that we should have met in Paris, then here within so short a time."

"There are many such coincidences among those who are fellow countrymen abroad."

"What is a coincidence? I have never been sure of the meaning of the word."

It was plain that she was challenging me.

"A coincidence," I replied, giving a definition that suited my purpose, "is something that happens."

"In which there is nothing premeditated, I suppose?"

"The mother was either ignorant of this sparring or pretended to be so. I preferred to finish it without her being present. So, rising, I asked if they would be some time in Interlaken and was informed that their stay would be indefinite. Then I asked permission, as a fellow countryman, to pay my respects to them, and it was granted. In a few minutes more, that I might not be presuming on a short acquaintance, arose with a deferential bow was moving away when I heard the younger lady say to her mother in a stage whisper:

"Isn't he nice?"

"That was too much. I turned and said:

"There's something wrong here. You either have known me before or think you have."

"Come and see me this evening and I will explain."

I called at her hotel that evening. She wore a dress that seemed familiar to me. I looked from her face to the dress, evidently to her amusement.

"You recognize my costume?"

"Have I seen it before?"

"When?"

"At A."

"I have not been at A. for fourteen years and was never there but once in my life."

"You were there long enough to propose to a girl in her teens but, judging from your reputation at this time, that was a mere pastime with you."

I was dumfounded.

"But this dress?" I asked.

"It has been made over several times since then."

A light began to break through the clouds.

"You are Alice Warfield?"

"I am. I don't blame you for not recognizing me. There's a great difference between the appearance of a girl of fifteen and one of twenty-nine."

It was all out. There had been a

HAD TROUBLE SINCE CHILDHOOD

All Treatments Failed. Relieved by Peruna.

Mrs. Wm. Hohmann, 2184 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child."

"I would sit up in bed with pillows propped up behind me, but it still the cough would not let me sleep. I thought and everybody else that I had consumption."

"So—reading the papers about Peruna, I decided to try it, without the least bit of hope that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never discouraged. Finally I seemed not to cough so much and the pains in my chest got better and I could rest at night."

"I am well now and cured of chronic cough and sore throat. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough. It has cured me where doctors have failed and I talk to Peruna wherever I go, recommend it to everybody. People who think they have consumption better give it a trial."

Peruna is a powerful cough medicine, but since she was a school girl, I just out of college, nothing came of it."

"Well," I said, "I suppose I was neglectful not to follow up the episode, but I have atoned for my fault by chasing you from Paris without even a knapsack and would have followed you around the globe."

If the little girl, angry with me for having forgotten my youthful love, should second some idea to me that I should on my mad chase after her it certainly had a perceptible effect on her. Rarely any woman can resist a man who, without even an extra collar, vest, or tie, after her, he knows not where, especially when she remembers tenderly a former episode. I captured the flying enemy, and two romances were made out of one that has thus far had no end.

FIELDS AND FORESTS

How Growth of the Forests May be Made to Increase the Grain Yield.

How can the existence of forests at the sources of a stream affect the crops in the district watered by the stream?

The question is not hard to answer. The chief need for the growth of all plants is water. One of the best known authorities estimates that field crops use 300 to 500 tons of water for every ton of dry material produced. This uses up the water in from 2 to 3 inches deep of the soil.

Naturally, the nearer the water is to the roots of the plants, the easier it is for the plants to take up the water and the better the crop will grow. Water, whether running free in the stream or lying in the soil, will seek the lowest level. If the level of the water in the stream falls, then the water in the soil (first from the near neighborhood of the stream and then from farther away) will find its way to the stream, and the level of the water in the soil will fall and so the plants will find it harder to get water.

In order to keep up the level of the streams in the summer, there must be a constant feeding of the streams with headwaters. It is well known that when the forests are cut away, the water from the melting of the snows in spring and the rains of other seasons flow away rapidly, often causing floods. The dry months of the summer find the streams almost dry.

The soil in the forest, however, is of a spongy nature and soaks up the water falling on it afterwards giving it gradually and so furnishing an even supply to the streams and enabling them to keep up their level.

The higher the level of the stream is maintained, the higher will be the level of the water in the soil, and the easier the plants will find it to grow. It is for reasons often outlined that the forest is so important to the farmers of the West that the Dominion forest reserves should be maintained. The Rocky Mountain forest reserve serves the farmer of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the Riding and Mountain reserves serve the farmer of northwestern and northern Manitoba and the Mountaineer reserve a considerable portion of southern Manitoba.

Never Spoke Again

Granley Berkeley, in his Recollections, notes one of the shortest parliamentary speeches on record. "Look-a-Charlie!" tried to make a milder speech, and, rising in his place, said: "I am sorry to keep you waiting."

On an average the Scotch are the tallest men in Great Britain, the Irish being the English third and the Welsh last.

The forest area of Canada, which approximates 1,557,000,000 acres, is more than double that of the whole of Europe.

From Australian pine bark experts have extracted 14 to 40 per cent. of tannin, against the 5 per cent. obtained in England from oak bark.

Eighty-four per cent. of Porto Rico's trade during the financial year ended June 30, 1911, was with the United States.

The life of a steel rail on a main railroad line is 12 years.

Idea Worth Money

Ideas are worth money. Send in good suggestions and we will pay for them.

The Pennsylvania Railroad announced recently the results attained by the above order, which was sent out to its employees some time ago. It said the response was immediate. Many of the ideas sent in, moreover, proved valuable, and their originators received rewards in cash for them.

A clerk in one of the roundhouses won a premium by submitting a plan for increasing economy by further use of carbon sheets, which remain in repair card books after the cards have been filled in and removed. He devised a way of using this carbon paper for one of the company's forms for ordering material from the warehouses.

A tinsmith in one of the shops discovered an improved method of fastening in engine cases the boxes which contain flaps, torpedoes and medicine case. He received pay for it. A fireman saw a way to minimize the loss of coal through vibrative charring in the heights of coal gates on locomotive tenders, and received an angle reward for the idea from employees which were considered worthy of financial reward.

Scotch Wit

A Scotch woman, whose name was Margaret, did not blush and swear at him as usual of answering, the minister.

"Ah, Margaret," said he, "diana ye ken where a' the sin' gang?"

"De'll take them that ken as well as them that ingers," cried out the bishman and the coaiman use to hith denst and the other curdies—just the same, I ken where a' the sin' gang, however, is not only dead, but forgotten. Lady Dornie, who recall the monotony: "Lord Abernethy," she notes, "remembering having seen my father-in-law, the Hon. George Nevill, born in 1769, smoking a cigar through a china holder, about the time of the invention of the electric lamp, which was a considerable improvement. These old-fashioned china cigar holders were often called 'rotten dories.' Just the very thing, in fact, for a birthday present to the husband."

By my troth, then," said Margaret, "let them gawp that ken them, for de'll a stump have I had these twenty years."

Not What She Meant

Maud—I've just heard of a case where a man married a girl on his death bed so that she could have millions when he was gone. Could you love a girl like that?

Jack—There's first the idea of a girl I could love. What's her address?

Last year the consumption of coal in Great Britain was 102,000,000 tons in round numbers, in England 300,000,000 tons, and in Germany about 250,000,000 tons.

"My present patient," said the pretty nurse, "is a peevish old millionaire."

"Never mind," he may ask you to marry him."

"Yes he may. He has about run out of other requests."

Th' Invald

"You know that ball player who has a glass arm, a weak knee and a ciao ankle—the one who only finished in five games during the season?"

"Yes, what about him?"

"He's going to work in a stone yard through the winter."

"Did you know," said a man who was reading about the contraction of metals, "that a clock ticks faster in winter than in summer?"

"No, I never noticed that about a clock. But I know a fast-tick clock."

Dealer—Look here! The bill for Dr. Pierce's Discovery has been running for over a year now.

Customer—Let it run. I want to have a look at it. Just the very motor car that will run for over half an hour without stopping.

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going up stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of use.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The blood is the regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are regular. The arteries are filled with good blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, and are overcome by this alternative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol.

Ask your neighbor. Many have the use of alcohol. Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the remedy needed for excessive tissue waste, in consequence from fever or run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kind offered by the dealer for a small profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Don't let repairs eat up your profits

Whether they represent actual cash outlay, or only the time of yourself and your help, repairs are waste just the same. When you make an improvement—no matter how small its cost may be—let it be permanent. Then it is a real investment, something on which you can realize in cash should you decide to sell your property; and something that will pay you constant dividends in convenience, sightliness and comfort as long as the farm remains your own.

Concrete Improvements Are Permanent

They last as long as the very hills themselves. They do not require experts to build them. Their first cost, in most cases, is no more than for inferior materials.

Aren't you interested in the subject of permanent, modern farm improvements?

Then write for the book that describes hundreds of them—

"WHAT THE FARMER CAN DO WITH CONCRETE"

It isn't a Catalogue. Every one of its 160 handsomely illustrated pages is interesting and instructive. They tell you to mix concrete, how to place it, what can be done with it. The book was printed for 50 cents, but we have a copy for you, free.

Christian Ernst arrived in town from Philadelphia on Sunday morning. Mr. Ernst is an experienced brewer and has been engaged by the Blairmore Brewing & Malting Co. to superintend the work at the company's plant here. The Blairmore Brewing & Malting Company are the owners of one of the finest manufacturing plants in Southern Alberta, and its opening up will mean a great impetus to the industrial life of Blairmore. The company was incorporated about twelve months ago, with a paid up capital of $50,000. The present brewery was erected at a cost of approximately $10,000 and is most admirably situated. During the past six months the capital of the company has been doubled, and now with a capital of $100,000 this new company is in a position to carry on a business which will mean much to this town and the neighboring country.

Sensational Trial Reaches a Climax

Friz Eberts Sentenced To Hang At Macleod On June 1st For Murder of Constable Wilmett

What has been the most sensational murder trial in the history of Southern Alberta was brought to a practical issue at Macleod on Saturday night at 9:10, when Friz Eberts, who was charged with the murder of Constable George E. Wilmett, of the R. N. W. M. P., was convicted and sentenced to hang at Macleod on June 1st next.

As will be remembered, Constable Wilmett, a young and efficient member of the Royal North West Mounted Police force, while in the discharge of his duties in the chase after baglars at Frank on the night of April 12th, 1908, (practically four years ago) was shot at and wounded, resulting in his death.

Since that time the vigilance of the whole force of the R. N. W. M. P., of both Alberta and British Columbia have been at work in an endeavor to locate the perpetrator of that cold-blooded deed, and not until last November could anything be brought to light that would warrant the arrest of any individual on this charge. About that time the police were made aware of the fact that a woman at Michel, B. C., during a family brawl, had divulged the mystery upon which the police worked up evidence sufficient to warrant the arrest of Friz Eberts and a chum Mathias Jasber as parties to the crime. Both were at once arrested and brought to Macleod, where they were retained until the present to answer to the charges preferred against them.

The hearing of the Ebert trial came up on April 2nd, and the shortness of the trial gave sufficient proof of the abundance of evidence brought against the suspects.

The R. N. W. M. P. deserve great credit for the termination of this particular case, which will result in a just reward being dealt to the perpetrator of this dastardly crime.

Mathias Jasber, on the charge of being an accomplice to the murder of Constable Wilmett, comes up for hearing at Macleod on May 8th, and the result of this case is eagerly looked forward to.

The April Rod and Gun

Once more Rod and Gun in Canada is out as a special Spring Fishing number—the April issue—and as usual there is something to interest fishermen in every Province of the Dominion. The Rest Easy Fishing Club's Canadian Outing on the French River is a good one, illustrating the fine sport indulged in by a party of American sportsmen who answered the call of the wild in Algonquin Park. In this story it was not the big fish that got away as is evidenced by reproductions of photographs taken by the "Official Photographer" who accompanied the party, one of which, "I love my Best Girl But I Love My Fishing" has been utilized as a cover cut. Of exceptional interest also is the account of a fishing trip through Tule Lake,
